

Forum: Bounty WishlistTopic: Let's Talk AROS Package Manager*Subject: Re: Let's Talk AROS Package Manager

Posted by: Fred

Posted on: 2008/1/3 7:25:24

A while ago I wrote a simple example of XML for an hypothetical package manager that used to contain pretty much all of the features you were talking about.

It was supposed to be put in a zip/lha/rar/whatever archive and read by an installer.

I'll have to double check my pc at home as soon as I'm back in Milano (now I'm in Orbetello to my parent's house) and I'll post the whole thing: I'm sure many can do what I wrote but, hey... maybe it'll simplify someone's life.

Anyway: planning the behavior and features of a package manager is quite of a complex task... more than it is to actually write the code. Dependencies and system updates are very delicate subjects.

I'll keep you posted as soon as I have my old writings.

Federico